Venezuela Moves Against Rebellion

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Backed firmly by Venezuela's political, labor and military leaders, the government of President Romulo Betancourt moved swiftly Wednesday to crush a rebellion near the Colombian border. Popular demonstrations cheered the President's actions and jeered at the rebellion.

The rebels were led by a disgruntled Venezuelan general. They crossed the border from Colombia, seized the mountain city of San Cristobal and tried to start a nationwide revolution. They failed. The government sent planes and soldiers against insurgent positions and said the rebels were quickly bottled up.

Tank Column
The Interior Ministry said there was street fighting in San Cristobal but the government expected all rebel activity to be snuffed out within hours.

A tank column supported by howitzers and infantrymen was said to be advancing toward San Cristobal for what was described as a final attack on the last rebel stronghold.

Interior Minister Luis Augusto Dubuc said the street fighting in the city was between rebels trying to enforce martial law and civilian groups backing the government.

One report said Gov. Cedeño Medina was leading the civil resistance.

Dubuc said rebel forces had lost an undisclosed number of men. The government said loyal troops had suffered no casualties.

Leaders of the country's biggest political, labor and military groups demonstrated massive support for the moderately leftist government of Betancourt.

MATS Fleet Obsolete, Aides Agree

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force and the Army agreed Wednesday that the United States flunked last month's test of its ability to airlift large numbers of combat soldiers to distant trouble spots.

Lt. Gen. William H. Tunner, head of the Military Air Transport Service, said the Puerto Rican airlift test demonstrated that 90 per cent of MATS' fleet is obsolete.

"The present force," he told a House Armed Services subcommittee, "cannot meet the time limitations established for the airlift of Army forces."

Gen. Bruce C. Clarke, head of the Army's Continental Command, joined in Tunner's conclusion.

"The limitations of the majority of the present MATS aircraft seriously limit the size of U. S. forces which can be deployed to distant overseas destinations in acceptable periods of time," said a joint report presented by the two generals.

36 Passengers Uninjured

Plane Collision Kills 4

HICKORY, N.C. (AP) — Four Michigan men crashed to their deaths near the Hickory Airport Wednesday after their small private plane collided with a Piedmont airliner as both planes made landing approaches.

The twin-engine F27 airliner, Piedmont Flight 50 bound from Cincinnati to Fayetteville, N. C., with 36 persons aboard, landed safely with light damage and no injuries.

The planes collided at about 600 feet over a pasture fringing the small airport. Witnesses said the small plane, a Cessna 310, dropped down on the airliner's left wing and then shot to earth.

Hickory police said the planes, operating under visual flight rules, apparently did not see each other because of the angles of their landing approaches. There is no air control tower in operation here but one is under construction.

The four men were identified as representatives of Grand Rapids furniture companies who were to visit the Hickory Furniture Show opening Friday.

Papers found at the wreckage identified the men as David Frank, 66, of the Imperial Furniture Co.; Julius Bersma, 44, of Bersma Brothers Furniture Co.; and Frederick James Frieswyk, 37, and Earl Gordon Krombeen, 41, both of the Calvin Furniture Co.

Three of the mangled bodies were strapped in the seats of the demolished plane. The fourth body was found under the fuselage behind the passenger compartment.

An airline passenger, Ed. Manske of Milwaukee, Wis., said "There was an abrupt jolt with a lot of noise" and the big plane's left wing was struck. It later showed small dents in the wing and in the propeller.

700 Negroes Arrested In New Raids

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—Police and soldiers backed by armored cars arrested 700 Negroes Wednesday in raids on native settlements outside major cities on South Africa's cape peninsula. More than a thousand have been seized in the last 48 hours.

The raids are part of the drive to quell an abortive strike called by the outlawed African National Congress protesting the government's strict apartheid laws.

Failure of the strike brought demands from liberal white groups for an end to emergency regulations permitting raids on Negro settlements without search warrants and detention of hundreds in jail indefinitely.

New Approach

Lands Minister Paul Sauer, acting government head, said Tuesday South Africa would "reconsider in earnest and honesty her whole approach to the native question."

But in a statement to Parliament Wednesday, Foreign Minister Eric Louw rejected any basic changes in government policy, including racial segregation. He also turned down suggestions for a coalition government with the opposition United party which proposed easing the "Negroes' lot."

If there is any change, Louw said, Prime Minister Hendrik Verwoerd will make it. Verwoerd, recovering from two bullet wounds inflicted by a white assassin April 9, probably will be well enough to take full charge of the government within a week, "even though he might have to do so from his bedroom," Louw declared.

No Departure

Louw also said the government's announced decision to discuss its racial problems with U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld in London next month did not herald a departure from the government's viewpoint that there should be no interference in the domestic affairs of member states of the U. N.

The talks stem from the April 1 U. N. Security Council resolution asking South Africa to end racial segregation.

H-Bomb Buster

In Washington Pentagon scientists said they could recall no development similar to the device described by the newspaper.

The Standard is owned by Lord Beaverbrook, who was Britain's minister of aircraft production during World War II. It gave no source for the story, which it splashed under the headline "H-bomb Buster."

The device involves radar beams "bent" along the curvature of the earth to detect a rocket missile shortly after it leaves its launching pad.

Impulses along the beam then would disrupt the missile's guidance system and explode its nuclear warhead.

The real advance is in discovering how to bend the radar beams over the horizon. So far they can be transmitted only straight. American experts already are in this country evaluating the British progress.

Stricter Traffic Laws Urged At Conference

HARRISBURG (AP) — The chairman of President Eisenhower's Traffic Safety Committee Wednesday said rigid laws are badly needed to curb highway deaths even at the risk of bruising the public's feelings.

Newspaper publisher William Randolph Hearst Jr. told the state's first annual traffic safety conference that enactment of stiff but fair laws is something legislators must tackle on a non-partisan basis. But he conceded there were political risks involved, saying:

"For one thing, laws intended to bring about safer highways and safer drivers often fail to catch the public fancy. It is not 'popular' legislation among the voters despite the fact that it may well save many of their lives.

"Mr. average motorist often looks upon this legislation as a poorly concealed plot to take away his driver's license—and anything that might affect his license is automatically condemned as down-right un-American."

National safety experts addressing the all-day conference said a 13-point safety program announced by Gov. David L. Lawrence's administration Feb. 2 could well become a model for the nation. All praised the administration for taking such action.

Arthur L. Conrad, director of the Chicago Municipal Court's traffic education and safety division, insisted that the success of any County who attended the conference were Burgess Edward A. Doran and Police Chief John B. Tretheway, Stroudsburg; Frank Smith, county highway maintenance superintendent, and Ray Davies, director of safety, Tolyhanna Signal Depot).

highway safety program has its roots in the public's moral attitude. He added:

"As a nation we have reached a low moral responsibility point in our history. It's at the point where Americans disregard traffic safety laws if they think they can get away with it."

He said whether he realizes it or not, a father sets bad example for a child even if he laughs about getting a traffic ticket.

"The attitude of the American people must be turned to righteous anger against this kind of attitude," he added. "We'll have to get damn mad about it before it's going to get better."

Main features of the administration program included a requirement for periodic physical examination of all drivers and a revised system of license suspensions.

Earlier, State Rep. Francis R. Worley (R-Adams) said the governor's plan to have all older drivers examined for physical fitness to drive is unfair. Worley said the governor "is trying to take away the rights of older motorists."

Starting Oct. 1, the state plans to have some 200,000 drivers licensed prior to 1924—the first year any tests were given drivers—take physicals in order to qualify for their 1961 licenses.

The action by the National Mediation Board almost certainly means that a strike of 650,000 non-operating rail workers will be put off at least for 60 days.

The next step is for Eisenhower to appoint an emergency board to consider the dispute. Under the law, this would postpone any walkout for 30 days, while the board holds hearings and drafts its recommendations, and 30 days more while the parties negotiate on the board's proposals.

The workers — those that maintain and service the trains but do not run them — are demanding 25 cents an hour more in pay and improvements in vacations, holiday and welfare benefits.

The railroads have countered with a demand that the non-operating workers take a 15 cents an hour pay cut.

But most of the questioning dealt not with Schneebeli's hopes,

Two Groups To Appear In Concert

TWO of the smaller groups appearing on the Stroud Union High School Chorus concert on Friday at 8:15 p.m. in the high school auditorium will be the Mountaineers, folk song groups, and the high school choir. The high school and Freshmen choruses will also participate. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wolbert are the featured soloists.

Among the nostalgic songs of the past to be performed by the Mountaineers will be "When Day Is Done," "Aunt Dinah's Quilting Party," "Strolling Through the Park" with Henry Roeder as soloist; "Sweet Genevieve," "Let A Smile Be Your Umbrella," "I'll Take You Home Again, Kathleen," with Doug Wright as soloist; and Barbara Hill and Judy Rhodes singing "Whispering Hope." Wanda Metzgar, chorus accompanist, changes to accordion, and Doug Lee, Mountaineer bass, changes to bass fiddle. A song of the present, in the style of the present, "Plymouth Rock" will also be featured by the Mountaineers.

Religious Selections

The Easter season just having been completed, a group of religious selections appropriate to it will be sung by the 35 voice high school choir. Asa Raymond will act as narrator during the singing of the following numbers: "O Sacred Head, Now Wounded," harmonized by Bach; "Hosianna," a Swedish melody, arranged by Livingston Gearhart; "Here Repose, O Broken Body" by Daniel Pinkham; and "Easter Passacaglia," a Wallingford Riegler arrangement of the old 17th century tune, "Ye Watchers and Ye Holy Ones."

Tickets for the program can be purchased from any of the chorus members or at Wyckoff's store from 3 to 5 p.m.

Student Teachers Program

IN-SERVICE program for student teaching personnel will be held Monday at 10 a.m. in the East Stroudsburg State College Auditorium.

The group will be welcomed by Dr. LeRoy J. Koehler, president and Dr. Francis B. McGarry will address the group in the subject of "Evaluating A Student Teaching Program."

Sectional meetings will get under way at 11:15 a.m. with the elementary group meeting with Lester J. Bowers; secondary, Dr. John R. Wildrick and Nicholas F. Stowell; Health and physical education, Miss Marion J. Gates and Earl H. Dean; and the administrative group will meet with Dr. Nathan G. Meyer.

New Building Tour

Following a buffet luncheon there will be a tour of the new building on campus and a symposium will be held at 2:15 p.m. in the auditorium.

The symposium will be "Ways To Implement The New Handbook."

The program is open to all administrators and supervising teachers participating in the student teaching program as well as college personnel.

ESSC Boiler Plant Bids To Be Opened

HARRISBURG (AP)—New bids for construction to expand the boiler plant at East Stroudsburg State College, Monroe County, will be opened by the General State Authority May 18.

The authority said Wednesday bids received last June were rejected because it was unable to obtain a clear title to the site from the Property and Supplies Department.

The project has been revised since that time, the authority said. The addition to the existing boiler plant will be about 36 by 45 feet and will house a new 250-horsepower boiler.

Carbon Road Work Project

HARRISBURG (AP)—The State Highways Department will receive bids May 12 on projects in these counties:

Carbon—A legislative route in Beaver Meadows and vicinity, 0.38 miles, reconstruction.

Wyoming—Traffic Route 92, Nicholson Borough, one pre-stressed concrete bridge, 0.10 mile.

Medical Aid Granted Area Lady

Record Harrisburg Bureau
HARRISBURG — The State Workmen's Compensation Board yesterday granted further medical services to Mrs. Wanda Weiss, 388 South Braeside Ave.,

East Stroudsburg, injured while employed at the Alexander Daviduk's Hotel, Marshalls Creek.

It was her understanding, Mrs. Weiss told the board, that her employer would assume financial liability until her recovery but that one year after the accident occurred she was notified by the hotel insurance carrier that the employer would no longer be liable. She then filed a petition for "further necessary medical services."

In turn a petition was filed by the hotel requesting dismissal on the grounds "that the petition (Mrs. Weiss') was not filed within six months of the date of the injury."

No Cause

In its decision the board said "being that the necessary medical services were being furnished to claimant at defendant's expense and that she understood they would continue until recovery, there was no cause for claimant to file her petition before the end of six months."

"However," added the board, "upon being notified that defendant would no longer be liable, she promptly filed her petition. This case appears to be one which merits favorable action and therefore further medical services are granted."

State Assembly Candidates Disagree At Demos' Rally

EAST Stroudsburg Democratic Club heard political office candidates talk at the CLU Social Club, East Stroudsburg Tuesday night on offices on the state and county level.

Stuart Pipher, candidate for the General Assembly, spoke of his background qualifications and platform.

He noted he has been active in many civic organizations and has served with labor for the past 10 or 11 years. His platform included an increase in the minimum wage law; encourage industrial development; higher salaries for school teachers; expansion of the civil service classifications; and more scholarships made available in the educational program.

Pipher mentioned a forthcoming pamphlet, to be distributed by his opponent, Van D. Yetter, in which Yetter is taking credit for the road program in Monroe County, appropriations for the Monroe County General Hospital, Flood Control Program, Keystone Shortway, College Building Program, improvements at Pocono State Park, Retention of the State Police Barracks in Mt. Pocono and sponsoring House Bill 831.

Denounces Credit

Pipher said, "Mr. Yetter has taken credit for all of this but on investigation I have found that the road program, General Hospital, Flood Control, Keystone Shortway, Pocono State Park and State Police barracks in Mt. Pocono all have been brought about by action from the people of the county, the County Commissioners, Civic Organizations and resorts in the area."

Yetter, incumbent for the office of assemblyman, then took the floor saying, "I have no apologies for my record, and I have attended all legislative sessions."

Weed Control Of Lawns

By Bob Stauffer
Asst. County Agent

CHEMICAL weed control in lawns is not a complicated or complex scientific experiment. In fact, it is probably one of the simplest steps along your road to a better lawn. First of all, what weeds can occur in your lawn? The broad-leaved weeds are very numerous. This group includes: Chickweed, clover, crabgrass, dandelion, and a half dozen others.

Now for the chemicals for control. A compound known as 2, 4, 5-T is the most suitable control chemical for clover. However, a second treatment at an interval of two to three weeks may be necessary to give complete clover control.

What about the dandelion? Well, if the lawn is infested with various broadleaf weeds as well as clover, a mixture of 2, 4, 5-T can be used; each material applied at one-half the normal recommended rate. (CAUTION — Keep 2, 4, 5-T away from desirable plants and shrubs). Apply the spray on a still day with no wind.

This combination spray program will control most lawn weeds except one—crabgrass. Crabgrass takes three to five sprays with Phenylmercuric acetate (Use a 10% chemical solution, and mix 3 ounces in 3 gallons of water). Sprays should start in early May and be applied at two week intervals.

These three chemicals, 2, 4-D, 2, 4, 5-T and Phenylmercuric acetate, properly applied, should produce a weed-free lawn. Always remember, use care and cautions when using chemicals.

For any additional chemical weed control information contact our local Agricultural Extension Office.

Charge Police With Extortion

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Three policemen were arrested Wednesday and charged with taking protection money from an alleged numbers writer.

Formally accused of extortion and conspiracy are Edward J. O'Kinsky, 30; Walter Szczepaniak, 29; and William Cook, 25.

John Williams, 63, who runs a grocery and candy store in North Philadelphia, also was arrested on a warrant issued by Magistrate John L. Coyle. Williams is charged with bribery, conspiracy, corrupt solicitation and operating a lottery.

Frank Rizzo, acting chief inspector, said Williams denied he is a numbers writer and denied further that he paid the policemen any money. Rizzo added that Williams has a record of eight arrests on numbers charges.

The three policemen and Williams were to have been arraigned Wednesday, but Magistrate Coyle continued the hearing until Thursday morning at the request of defense counsel.

Detainer Placed Against Surgeon

GREENSBURG, Pa. (AP) — Detainers have been placed against two men wanted for questioning in the alleged $82,000 bilking of a Latrobe surgeon in a horse betting scheme, state police reported yesterday.

Jess Packler of the Greensburg state police barracks said Adam Bagdasian of Silver Springs, Md., and Herman Wilensky of Miami Beach, Fla., are in jail at Rockville, Md., awaiting trial on narcotics and horse betting charges.

Dr. Jack Hammill claimed three men bilked him out of $82,000 over a six-month period in 1959 in a scheme to make a financial killing on horse races.

A man identified as Frank Jones is free on $40,000 bond pending grand jury action in the case. He was arrested last Nov. 14.

Let's Build Shortway By World's Fair Time

New York City is laying elaborate plans for the mammoth World's Fair opening in 1964 on a 646-acre tract in Flushing Meadow Park. Robert Moses, who will head the fair, said it will continue through 1965.

He estimates "conservatively" an attendance of 40,000,000 visitors in 1964 and 30,000,000 in 1965. A peak attendance of 500,000 in a day is expected.

If only half of these visitors travel to New York by automobile, it's obvious that there will be murderous traffic jams on all highways radiating out of the city unless immediate steps are taken to speed construction of all the new roads planned for the area.

Such a program would include much more than the $95,000,000 in arterial highway construction earmarked for the immediate region around New York.

We're thinking especially of the major interstate highways linking metropolitan New York with the rest of the country.

New Jersey, for one, is rushing work on the $387,000,000 expressway between the George Washington Bridge and Delaware Water Gap. When completed this superhighway will form a fast-speed link between New York City and the Poconos, as well as to other places in Pennsylvania and points west.

Where, pray tell, are we going to shuttle all the traffic the expressway will dump at our doorstep? Present facilities and those planned for the immediate future surely cannot handle the heavy load.

The only answer is early construction of the Keystone Shortway for its entire 291-mile distance between Stroudsburg and Sharon. The Shortway, part of which is now being built, will be a four-lane, limited-access highway crossing northern Pennsylvania and connecting with the Penn-Can Highway, the Northeast Turnpike, the proposed Anthracite Expressway and many other major north-south routes serving Pennsylvania.

At Sharon, it will join the Ohio Turnpike and eventually carry traffic in an almost straight line all the way to San Francisco. The entire route—from New York City to the West Coast—will be known as Interstate Route 80.

Because it will serve many important cities (Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Chicago, Des Moines, Omaha, Salt Lake City and points in between) Route 80 is considered one of the key highways in the nation's defense program.

But it will be nothing more than a line on a map until the Shortway is completed. Therefore, we urge both the state and federal governments to make the money available to rush construction of the Stroudsburg-Sharon route.

As important as it has been regarded in recent planning, the Shortway's real worth can only be measured in the light of New York City's plan to accommodate 70,000,000 World's Fair visitors in 1964-65. There is a pressing need to start the dirt flying on all segments of the Shortway as quickly as possible.

DEAR MR. EDITOR:

Who Is To Decide Issue?

Dear Mr. Editor:

Every community, large and small, has its share of self-styled "righteous" citizens who have the selfish attitude that "If it was good enough for Grandfather, it's good enough for me. If it suits me, it's got to suit everybody else."

Now, these "do-gooders" (most of whom compare favorably to the biblical money-changers) are the same ilk as those responsible for the infamous Prohibition Era.

Remember the passage of the 18th amendment. It drove underground the sale of alcohol and poured millions upon millions of dollars into the coffers of the underworld.

The result was the vast syndicate empire that flourishes today... causing our law enforcement agencies the greatest problems they have ever encountered. The television portrayal of the "Untouchables" brings it back with shocking recollection.

These righteous citizens have a firm belief that destiny has cast them in the role of saviors of humanity. They, for the most part, excel in their own fields and like the proverbial "shoemaker" should try sticking to their last!

Unfortunately, they must put their talents to "banning Sunday movies," "regulating parking contrary to the wishes of those who knew best"... which things were passed on in spite of their high minded objections.

Their latest, of course, is full-page spreads in newspapers on the Harassment Issue. Their wildest objection was that, since this country was founded by men who worked hard for everything they got, the "fast-buck" that might find its way into the pockets of the working man will contaminate his moral character.

One can't help being reminded of the fact that John Jacob Astor, Jay Gould, Cornelius Vanderbilt and John D. Rockefeller were pretty instrumental in the founding of this country, too... and while they were very hard-workers... they never turned their backs on a fast-buck... and the United States of America didn't exactly go to pot as a result.

It would appear from this that the only thing wrong with the "fast-buck" is when it finds its way into the pockets of the small business men and the working class of the country.

It is an insult to the intelligence of the fine people of Monroe County to infer that they are not the type to decide on the harness racing issue for themselves.

Since we did not all immediately become drunkards as a result of the voiding of the 18th Amendment... and since none of us fell by the wayside into crime as a result of attending an occasional Sunday movie... now, to intimate that we are headed for mortal sin if a track is constructed in our area is certainly a small-minded attitude.

Who are these committee members who feel that you, the good people of Monroe County, are weak-willed and lily-livered... that you would all immediately go the way of the transgressor if the harness racing issue goes thru?

Just how can anyone tender these thoughts where you fine people are concerned. You are the descendants of the solid citizens who fought Indians... tilled the rocky soil, and produced the magnificence of the Poconos as we know it today... from the most rugged territory in the State of Pennsylvania. You are made of stern stuff!

Go to the polls and vote... you, the progeny of the founders of the Pocono Mountains. You rugged individualists are being addressed as children... not the sterling characters that you are. You well know that a moral world is brought about by proper teaching in the home... and true recognition of the Golden Rule.

Vote the way you honestly feel... not the way the Citizens Committee is trying to force down your throats. Our American Heritage is at stake... the right to vote on any issue... no matter how controversial. Do what you feel is right... it's your duty... and your privilege.

Interpreting The News

India Gives Chou Chilly Reception

By J. M. Roberts

As Red China's Premier Chou En-lai emerges from behind the Bamboo Curtain for the first time in several years, his every word and every gesture is being watched for its bearing on relations with the Soviet Union and the rest of the world.

No important world figure has been received abroad in recent years with such cold correctness as was Chou in New Delhi, Tuesday, British Prime Minister Harold MacMillan did much better at Macmillan spots in Africa, and so did French President Charles de Gaulle in Algeria.

Chou said he would like to settle the border dispute with India "in accordance with the principles of coexistence."

"Our relations have been imperiled for the present and future," said Indian Prime Minister Nehru, referring to the shocked Indian people who refused even to display their curiosity by gathering to see Chou.

If Chou has been hoping, as reported, to smooth Asiatic feathers ruffled by Red China's repeated acts of aggression, he could see he had his work cut out for him.

Is he as much interested in that as in demonstrating that peace talk between the Soviet Union and the West is meaningless as long as Peiping is not consulted?

Was his endorsement of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's pre-summit maneuvers sincere, or a mere political sop?

His words on this point have been accompanied by a reiteration on the part of Communist China's doctrinaires that force—civil war or international war as befits the occasion—must be renounced as weapons of the world revolution.

The atmosphere of the current meeting offers no hope for a settlement between Peiping and New Delhi. Even an agreement to set up a boundary with Burma, can mean little. The Reds have occupied territory long held by India, and built a military road across part of it. Neither party shows signs of yielding.

The visit also comes at a time when the world has considered crucial for Chou. With vast internal troubles because of attempts to regiment the individualistic Chinese, he needs diversions abroad, beyond the need for demonstrating China's importance to world settlements.

Federal Road Reforms

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott

Washington — That congressional investigation of the $40 billion road program is beginning to produce some reforms.

Federal Highway Act Administrator Bernier D. Tallamy is doubling the size of his special investigative staff following the disclosure of irregularities in a number of states by the House Public Works Subcommittee.

The enlarged investigative corps, from 20 to 40, will be used on a new round of check-ups by the Bureau of Public Roads in initiating, detecting and prosecuting frauds and waste involving federal and state officials and private contractors.

What Happened—The "Oklahoma Case" probe will air a county grand jury report blistering the Roads Bureau for laxness in inspecting a $10 million project.

These corrective measures were made known to Representative John Blatnik (D., Minn.), chairman, as his committee prepared to summon Tallamy and his assistants for questioning on why little or nothing has been done to maintain a close scrutiny of the vast highway project.

The first public hearing, slated for next week, will center on the so-called "Oklahoma Case." This involves a strip of highway known as the Skelly Bypass, near Tulsa, which is so poorly constructed that an additional $1 million will have to be spent to make it usable.

Representative Blatnik explained he picked this case to open the hearings because it raises the "basic question behind this investigation: Does the Bureau of Public Roads make adequate checks on highway construction to detect and prosecute frauds and waste involving federal and state officials and private contractors?"

The first public hearing, slated for next week, will center on the so-called "Oklahoma Case." This involves a strip of highway known as the Skelly Bypass, near Tulsa, which is so poorly constructed that an additional $1 million will have to be spent to make it usable.

Representative Blatnik explained he picked this case to open the hearings because it raises the "basic question behind this investigation: Does the Bureau of Public Roads make adequate checks on highway construction to detect and prosecute frauds and waste involving federal and state officials and private contractors?"

What Happened—The "Oklahoma Case" probe will air a county grand jury report blistering the Roads Bureau for laxness in inspecting a $10 million project.

These corrective measures were made known to Representative John Blatnik (D., Minn.), chairman, as his committee prepared to summon Tallamy and his assistants for questioning on why little or nothing has been done to maintain a close scrutiny of the vast highway project.

According to these jury findings, "The inspection conducted by the employees of the Bureau of Public Roads consisted of coming to the project one day each month, usually examining the road by driving on it, and going to the office of the division engineers for a cursory examination of reports... In most cases, the federal inspectors didn't bother to get out of their cars."

The grand jury also charges the contractors and state officials involved a clean bill of health without a full investigation having been made of the charges... and at a time when the inspectors knew a county grand jury investigation was underway."

Last month this jury indicted three officials of a Tulsa construction firm for fraud, supplying inferior materials and substandard grading and roadbeds.

Investigators of Blatnik's Committee found letters and other documents in the files of the Roads Bureau supporting the jury's accusations.

Similar examples of "laxness" by Bureau inspectors have been uncovered in a number of other states by committee investigators.

The staff agents have told Blatnik that in a number of these instances complaints of fraud and corruption were actually made to Tallamy. But nothing came of them, the investigators charge, because only cursory checkups were made that failed to uncover the facts.

Another matter that will be delved into by Blatnik in the coming hearings is the widespread use of "consulting engineers" by state highway departments, at the cost of many millions to the construction program. According to the Monneson, these expenditures are "largely unnecessary and wasteful."

In addition to Oklahoma, the committee is conducting highway investigations in New York, New Jersey, Rhode Island, Ohio, Indiana, Iowa and Montana.

Anti-Snoopers — Rep. James Wright (D., Tex.) wants to put an end to the long standing practice of rewarding informers for information about tax evaders. Wright has introduced a bill on that, and the House Ways and Means Committee is going to consider it. The Texan feels his measure has a 50-50 chance, because treasury officials have told him they "don't object to it."

Curiously, the House voted the $650,000 budget for the Civil Rights Commission without a word of discussion. Rep. John Rooney (D., N. Y.), in charge of the measure, expected some controversy, but it was approved without a murmur—possibly because the fund had been cut $180,000.

Rep. Robert Kastenmeier (D., Wis.) has sharply rebuked the architect of the Capitol for granting a concession in the House basement garage to wash the cars of members for $150. Kastenmeier is not complaining at the price but the granting of the concession. He told the architect, "Using government property in this manner is an extremely dubious practice. This property belongs to the taxpayers of the country, and it should not be used for private profit."

According to the Bureau of Naval Research, seagulls are not as smart as starlings. When the Naval Laboratory at San Diego was bothered by gulls, the Research Bureau suggested plastic owls to frighten them away. The subterfuge worked. But when this stratagem was used in Washington against starlings, they ignored the phony owls; in fact, some of the starlings got to roosting on them.

Serious Problems Face Traffic Safety Workers

AT LEAST seven serious problems face traffic safety workers as they struggle to reduce the heavy toll of life and property on America's highways, members of the Pocono Mountains Motor Club were told Tuesday night at their annual meeting.

The speaker was Prof. Amos E. Neyhart, internationally recognized authority on traffic safety.

He said an increase in the number of unfit drivers is the first problem we face. In Detroit alone, he said a psychiatrist found after examining 10,000 licensed drivers that 100 were comittably insane, 850 feeble minded, and 1,000 had been in mental institutions.

In Ohio, Prof. Neyhart added, the Driver Licensing Bureau discovered after a survey that 600 licensed drivers were receiving checks for the blind

Presbytery Buys Kohl Property For $80,000

AN $80,000 transaction involving land in Stroud Township was completed yesterday with filing of the deed in the office of Mrs. Jeannette F. Batory, Monroe County register and recorder.

The property was sold by Carl D. and Mary Alice Kohl of Stroud Township to the Presbytery of Philadelphia. It includes 138.74 acres of land and an access road.

The property will be used for a camp by the church group. Its purchase was authorized at a recent meeting of the Presbytery.

Okay Given For Bangor School Plans

BANGOR—Final approval of building plans for the proposed Bangor Area Joint Senior High School have been secured in Harrisburg, school officials learned last night.

H. F. Everitt, architect, told the officials that the Art Commission had given the approval, which followed that of the Dept. of Public Instruction and the Dept. of Labor and Industry last week.

Officials announced they will advertise for the bids on the project Friday of this week.

Interviewers To Mop Up '60 Census

THE 1960 census of population and housing enters its final stage Saturday when a picked group of interviewers begins a "mopping up" operation to complete the 10-year inventory of the nation's people and their homes.

According to Harry E. Hartman, district supervisor, the interviewers are primarily concerned with accounting for the blue household questionnaires left at every fourth household during the first stage of the census.

A small number of persons have failed to mail this form to the district office at Bethlehem. Some which have been received have not been completely filled out.

The interviewers will make personal visits to households from which report forms have not been received and obtain the answers to census questions. They will also seek, by telephone and personal visits, answers to questions left blank or incorrectly answered in forms already sent to the census office.

Hungry Burglar Nabbed At Scene

UNIONTOWN, Pa. (AP)—Police nabbed a burglar at a restaurant here early Wednesday—but not before he had cooked and eaten three steaks, two pork chops, three chicken legs, four eggs, half a head of lettuce and half a loaf of bread.

Lawrence W. Bair, 28, of Zelenopolis, Ohio, was lodged in Fayette County jail on charges of burglary and mischievous conduct.

Officers said Bair apparently hid in the Paradise Restaurant just before closing time Tuesday night and then spent the rest of the night cooking and eating.

He was discovered while hacking away at a juke box and a cash register with a meat cleaver to get some money.

Bair told police he hadn't eaten since last weekend.

Rail Aides Jailed

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP)—Sixteen railroad officials have been sentenced to from 6 months to 30 months at hard labor on charges of torturing other officials in the headquarters building of the national railways.

Stroud Union 'Bargain' Work

STROUD UNION School District last night ran across one of the few bargains of the year when alteration bids on five schools came to almost $9,000 under the estimate given by the architects.

The estimate given on the construction of three classrooms at the high school, fire repairs at the Delaware Water Gap, Morey schools and alternate repairs at the Analomink and Clearview schools, was $27,000 when plans were drawn up, but bids last night totaled only $18,058.59.

Needless to say, the bids were accepted by the board.

Three bids submitted for the high school work were Charles Frank, $4,964; A. L. Rake and Son, $6,388, and Paul Edinger, $6,789. Frank's bid was accepted.

Frank's was also the low bid on the Delaware Water Gap, Morey, Analomink and Clearview projects, listed, respectively—$3,891, $1,576, $795 and $450.

A. L. Rake's bids were Delaware Water Gap, $5,155; Morey, $1,722; Analomink, $930 and Clearview, $689.

Paul Edinger's bids were Morey, $1,789; Analomink, $912; Delaware Water Gap, $4,400; and Clearview, $665.

Heating Low Bidder

Low Bidder on heating was Archibald Co., with $4,674, while second was R. J. Groner, $4,913 and third Hanford Cleveland with $5,582.

The electrical bids were the most surprising with the lowest bid made by Ernest Anglemeyer for the high school of $1,309.23 and the Morey School, $399.36.

Next was Matt Kime with $2,400 for the high school and $800 for the Morey School.

The Wilkins Division of D. Katz and Sons was high bidder with $2,662.86 for the high school and $1,648.89 for the Morey School.

In other business, it was announced that the budget meeting of the board will be held Wednesday, April 27, at 7:30 p. m. at the high school.

At that time, the tentative budget and tax millage for the year was accepted. Final approval must be made, however, 30 days after this meeting.

Superintendent Earl Groner submitted the school calendar for 1960-61 and it was approved.

Urges Tour

Groner asked the board to make a tour of buildings in the Union needing repairs to acquaint themselves with the situation.

The Analomink Baseball Club was granted permission to use the field on alternate Sundays with the Strouds team.

Mrs. Lola Strunk was approved for employment in the school office.

The resignation of Miss Jane Ann Marshall as kindergarten teacher in the Hamilton Township School was accepted by the board.

Elizabeth Martin was approved as summer sessions teacher for the schools.

Eldred Ist To Top Red Cross Goal

ELDRED Township is the first district to go over its quota in the 1960 Fund Campaign of the Monroe County Chapter of the American Red Cross.

Mrs. Adan Bohner and Mrs. Isaac Hawks, co-chairmen, yesterday turned into Red Cross headquarters the sum of $252.50 putting them over their quota.

Development Loans Okayed

HARRISBURG (AP)—The Pennsylvania Industrial Development Authority "Wednesday" approved loans totaling $255,000 on industrial projects in Pottsville, Altoona and Windber.

At the same time the PIDA board gave preliminary approval to five additional loans totaling $120,000.

The Greater Pottsville Industrial Development Corp. will receive $180,000 for expansion of the plant occupied by the Phillips Van-Husen Corp.

Loans given preliminary approval by the board included: Lehighite—Lehighite Industrial Development Corp., $30,000, to be used in expanding the plant of the Duralum Carpet Mills Inc.

Mount Carmel — Mount Carmel District Industrial Fund Inc., $135,000, for construction of a new building and completion of a shell building to be occupied by Jostan Corp., aluminum door and window producers.

What INFORMED FARM OPINION has to say about RACETRACK GAMBLING

"Folks who till the soil learn valuable lessons from the plants and animals with which they work that not only enrich their lives but serve as guideposts for their daily living."

"In considering this issue of legalized gambling, we are reminded of the common thistle. The thistle is a vigorous, hardy plant and when it blooms, it presents to the eye a lovely flower. But people don't plant thistles so they may reap the small enjoyment that the flower would bring, for they know that with the flower will also come the highly undesirable features for which this plant is noted, the needle-sharp spines that burn the flesh, its tremendous ability to multiply and crowd out other plants, the almost impossible task of getting rid of the plant once it gets established, the way it pollutes and spoils the crops with which it grows."

"Sound thinking men and women will recognize all of the factors that are involved with this issue of legalized gambling. They will weigh carefully all of the undesirable features that accompany such activity."

"But making the right decision is not enough. If legalized gambling is to be defeated, it can only be done at the ballot box on April 26th. Go to the polls and vote! Urge your friends and neighbors to do likewise. Use your telephone and automobile in getting the voters out on April 26th."

One Injured In Accident In S-Burg

ONE person was injured in a two-car accident at Wallace and Phillips St., Stroudsburg, yesterday.

Borough police identified the drivers as Loring H. Cramer, 46, of 320 N. Courtland St., East Stroudsburg, and Mrs. Olive Merring, 55, of 888 White St., Stroudsburg.

Mrs. Florence Merring, 75, Stroudsburg, RD 3, a passenger in the Merring car, was treated by Dr. Marshall Metzgar for cuts of the head and knees and released.

Damage was estimated at $450 to the right front of the Cramer car and $500 to the entire front end of the Merring vehicle.

Top Students At S-burg

THE valedictorian and salutatorian for the 1960 graduating class of Stroud Union High School were announced last night by Superintendent Earl Groner.

The valedictorian will be Miss Wanda Metzgar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Metzgar, 1556 N. Fifth St., Stroudsburg.

Salutatorian will be Miss Dietland Krauter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willy Krauter, Delaware Water Gap.

Babysitter's Knifer Convicted

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Ellis (Sonny) Williams, 23, was convicted of aggravated assault and battery Wednesday in the stabbing of a 13-year-old babysitter last Feb. 6.

Judge J. Paul MacElree of Chester County, substituting here, deferred sentence pending psychiatric examination of Williams at Norristown State Hospital.

Williams pleaded innocent to stabbing Diane Geist three times as she slept in a friend's home. She was there as a baby sitter. Williams had waived a jury trial.

Area Aged Survey Reports Given

DURING a meeting of the Monroe County organization for the White House Conference Activities on Aging, Chairman Ernest Wyckoff asked for reports from committee chairmen.

Nation Close To Branding Dictator

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U. S. government yesterday gave its closest yet, to branding Fidel Castro a dictator.

The sharp words came from the State Department after officials here were stung by the Cuban Prime Minister's latest blast in his series of attacks on Uncle Sam.

This time, Castro publicly declared he saw some similarity between U.S. policy and those of Hitler, Mussolini and Spain's Generalissimo Francisco Franco.

In an interview Tuesday with correspondent Richard Bate, of the Columbia Broadcasting System, published in the semi-official Castro newspaper Revolution, Castro said the Fascists condemned communism while justifying aggression and the United States "appears to have adopted a policy that in other times times served to advance Fascists."

State Department press officer, Lincoln White denounced this as "another of the baseless remarks which the Cuban Prime Minister makes from time to time for reasons best known to himself."

The U.S. spokesman noted that the United States had gone to war against Hitler and Mussolini in World War II. He said America now considers international communism a real threat to democracy and hopes that Castro and the Cuban people will come to realize this.

Dr. Morton H. Spinner, chairman of the health needs and services committee, reported that his group has reached the conclusion that some kind of statistical survey is needed to give an idea how the county's senior citizens feel about medical services in the community.

However, Dr. Spinner's committee did not feel that a questionnaire would give the needed information.

Only through personal interview, the committee stated, could such data be garnered.

Wyckoff said perhaps churches and other groups could aid in the gaining of the information.

Rev. Roger C. Stinson, chairman of the housing needs committee, stated that a list of questions had been submitted to Dr. Frank Silis, heading up a general questionnaire committee, regarding housing facilities and needs of the aging.

Seven Families
Mrs. Bernice All told the group that at present only seven families receiving old age assistance are presently in undesirable housing.

Ashton Burrows, chairman of the income and maintenance committee, reported that his group had also submitted questions for the general questionnaire.

Ray Myers, field representative of the Social Security Board, said at present 3,347 persons are getting a total of $202,933 in payments from the agency.

Capt. Charles Drummond reported he had met with Rev. Robert T. Zuch, chairman of the religion committee, and they had also worked up questions for submission.

Mrs. Nelson Beers, chairman of the social services committee, reported that her unit had agreed to certain recommendations to various community social agencies.

Mrs. Barbara Gilpin, chairman of the recreation committee, reported representation from all parts of the county.

Dr. Silis then stated he had asked Stuart Pipher, president of the Central Labor Union, to send a representative to meet with Mrs. Gilpin's committee on April 21 to govern the entire questionnaire.

Dr. Silis then gave a report on the state of the questionnaire.

Eagles Plan For Mother's Day Class

THE SEMI-monthly meeting of the Stroudsburg Aerie, Fraternal Order of Eagles, was held Tuesday at the lodge.

Following the proposing of nine new members, Membership Chairman Ernie Ridgeway stated that Sunday, April 24 will be the last day for filing applications for the Mothers Day Class.

Nominations of officers were held, and the election will be held Tuesday, May 3. Secretary Les Voss read the house rules and they were passed at the first reading.

One minute of silence was observed for deceased members.

Milo Howell and Harold Metzgar.

A visitation to the Veterans Hospital, Wilkes-Barre, will be held Sunday, April 26, and a delegation from the local Aerie will attend.

Charm Is Quality Of Institutions

By David Ottaway
THE charm of Paris is undoubtedly due to the enchanting quality of her institutions. I speak of the Parisian cafe, the "system" of street strolling, the habit of window shopping, the mysterious ways of car drivers, the life of the public parks.

The Parisian cafe summons the image of a bustling train station and then a theatre. The life of a cafe is a continual coming and going, the rendezvous for thousands of meetings and a convenient waiting room available on every block.

It is a theatre, too. But is the cafe the stage or the audience? Evidence that it is a stage is abundant.

Women dressed in chic, Parisian fashions, students acting out a public debate, a stranger talking across several tables to a lonely, lovely girl attempting to engage her in conversation.

At the same time, the cafe sitters are part of an audience watching the world pass by. If you are a part of the passing crowd, you feel yourself the object of curiosity as cafe sitters look you up and down.

When you stroll the streets of Paris there is a lot more involved than simply walking.

Quarter Speed
Compared to New York City the pace is quarter speed. Yet, French people living outside Paris complain of the exhausting tempo of life here.

On the streets everyone is inquisitive about everyone else; especially girls and boys. On Saturdays and Sundays you stroll down especially for a stroll down the boulevard.

For entertainment there are street merchants selling "top quality" merchandise at "unique" prices, crack-pots demonstrating a variety of toys and gimmicks, painters portraying the scene for posterity and street bums hovering among the crowds with gay abandon.

A favorite Parisian pastime for those engaged in the sport of street meandering is window shopping which the French call "window-licking."

As for French driving, life is less difficult for pedestrians than first appearances would indicate. An unwritten law of cooperation exists, a law frequently strained but remarkably resistant.

Close Scrapes
There are close scrapes but fewer accidents than you would expect.

Relations between drivers, however, are quite a different story. It was revealing that a large percentage of accidents that occurred during the Christmas and New Year holidays were due to refusals to yield the right of way.

Every driver believes himself to have the right of way, regardless of circumstances.

To yield this right of way is an insult to French pride and individualism. The result is numerous small accidents and hours of hot debate in defense of your mistakes.

And finally, in sheer exhaustion from the high tension and excitement of street strolling, you seek shelter in one of the public parks, Tuilleries, Luxembourg or the Bois de Boulogne.

Latest Generation
Here you find France's latest generation of children gathered together on the dusty carpets of various park paths.

Around the park fountains, the boys of this generation set sail their boats for the exotic lands across the pools.

Unfortunately, there is hardly enough park space to accommodate the crowds that turn out in good weather. But one has the feeling that it is for the children that the parks serve. Pony rides, merry-go-rounds, boats, bicycles, hoops and balls.

These are but some of Paris' unforgettable institutions. They are the charms of the city in the spring.

MRS. Dorothy Budge, Mrs. Anna Serfas, Mrs. Emma Buskirk and Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Budge motored to Pennsylvania State University on Sunday, to hear the evening Easter Musical Service given by the University Chapel Choir of 100 members. Earl Budge, son of Mrs. Dorothy Budge is a member of the choir. The choir sang works of representative English composers.

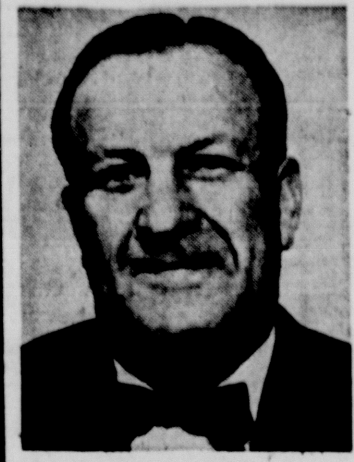

Liturgists for the service were the Reverend Preston N. Williams and Professor John H. Frizzell, University chaplain emeritus.

Rev. Harold Ulmer will attend "College Day," at Albright College, Saturday, April 23.

James Smith, a student at Pennsylvania State University spent the weekend with his mother, Mrs. Esther Smith.

Hostelers Favor Harness Betting

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Hotels Assn. said yesterday it favors pari-mutuel betting on harness races.

A proposal to legalize pari-mutuel betting at harness race tracks will be voted on in next Tuesday's primary election in Allegheny and a number of other counties.

Executives of seven big Pittsburgh hotels signed the hotel association statement, which said: "We can practically assure ourselves of a track in the county by voting to legalize racing."

Daniel C. Parish, a Pittsburgh contractor who owns part of Randall Race Track in Cleveland, also favors the betting proposal. He said Tuesday: "What is wrong with an industry that attracts such citizens as the Mellons, the Vanderbilts, the Whitneys, the Sloans, the Firestones, the Dodges, the McCunes, the Olivers, the Humphreys and other outstanding Americans?"

Elect 1st Woman

BOSTON (AP) — The American Antiquarian Society Wednesday elected a woman as a member for the first time in its 148-year history.

She is novelist Esther Forbes Hoskins of Worcester, Mass., who writes under the name of Esther Forbes.

The historic Liberty Bell, in Philadelphia's Independence Hall weighs 2,080 pounds.

Church Children's Program

WOODDALE — Easter morning the scholars of the Sunday School of the Wooddale Union Church presented their entertainment. The church was filled to capacity with some people standing.

The program was under the direction of Mrs. Clarence Lesoinne, superintendent and was announced by Mrs. William Halterman, assistant superintendent. The music was in charge of Mrs. Robert Decker who opened the exercises with a prelude followed by a hymn by the congregation. Scripture reading by Karen Graepel and prayer by the pastor, Rev. Justin C. Feltham.

Recitations were by: Dorothy Lamb, Michael Shields, Barbara Fish, Gloria Fish, Bobby White Jr., Bobby Shields, Duane Tala, Nancy Halterman, Jeffrey Halterman, Janet Baird, Debra Schaller, Susan Brush, Randy Halterman, Roy Adams, Philip Brush, Shirley Halterman, Vickie Adams, and Sandra Mosier.

The children and Karen O'Hara, Janice Schaller, Phyllis Decker and Jane Cramer also took part in exercises and songs.

Vocal solos: Janet Baird, Shirley Miller and Jacqueline Miller.

Vocal duets: Gloria and Barbara Fish and Jacqueline and Bonnie Miller.

Songs by the girls chorus. Members included: Susan Miller, Bonnie and Jacqueline Miller, Karen Graepel, Evelyn Cramer, Debbie Schaller, Shirley Halterman, Sandra Mosier, Janet Baird and Vickie Adams. Reading: by Bonnie Miller.

Easter lilies were presented by Mr. and Mrs. Lester Brush in memory of Mr. Brush's father, Layton Brush and by Mr. and Mrs. John Bean in memory of Mr. Bean's father, Elmer Bean.

The offering was received by John Lesoinne and Ross Transue.

The pastor spoke on "The Meaning of Easter." After the service the children were given chocolate candy.

Shangri-La Heads For Home

RIO DE JANEIRO, Argentina (AP)—The U. S. aircraft carrier Shangri-La steamed for her new home base in Mayport, Fla., yesterday after a tragedy-marred visit to South American ports.

One of the Shangri-La's frogmen is missing and believed drowned in Rio's Guanabara Bay. The carrier suffered an explosion after leaving Valparaiso, Chile for Rio April 10. Several of her crewmen were injured.

The naval attaché at the U. S. Embassy said the missing frogman was Richard L. Clark of Window Rock, Ariz. He disappeared while inspecting the vessel's propellers. Officials believed he was caught in a strong undercurrent and carried out to sea.

A HARNESS RACE TRACK In Monroe County

A Harness Track in Monroe County is not guaranteed by the State Harness Racing Commission even if the majority of the population votes in favor of it. Many questions enter into the selection:

1. Population in a 50-60 mile radius
2. The distance from other tracks
3. The roads layout and capacity in the state and to neighboring States
4. The usual influx of visitors and vacationists
5. The rooming and feeding capacity of the section

A HARNESS RACING PLANT In Monroe County

WOULD COST BETWEEN 5 & 8 MILLION DOLLARS to erect . . . and

WOULD EMPLOY 1,000 (PLUS) PEOPLE

The Chamber of Commerce tried for many years to settle more business and new industries here to stimulate activities and better working conditions.

Original capitalization shares would be offered to citizens of Monroe County. Each shareholder will be investigated by the Pennsylvania Harness Racing Commission and the Attorney General's office. Any surplus stock goes to the investment market. No territorial questions have been discussed with the Commission.

The 20th Annual Report of the New Jersey Racing Commission to the Honorable Robert B. Meyner, Governor of New Jersey, states as follows: "For the 19 years of pari-mutuel operations in New Jersey the state has received over $252,500,000.00 from this source. This year's attendance increased 20.6%." During the year the Commission expended the sum of $224,196.79. This expenditure represents a cost to the state of UNDER ONE CENT for each dollar of revenue received.

Why are certain factions now condemning a perfectly legitimate, state regulated and controlled BIG INDUSTRY to help us in that endeavor?

Racing in New Jersey involves millions of dollars of investment in the state, not only in construction and maintenance but also in breeding farms, stallions, broodmares and race horses.

Salaries, including seasonal employees and special services, paid January 1st to December 31st, 1959, amounted to $196,427.32.

Florida counties, just 2 Fridays ago, received the biggest windfall ever from the State's racing tax. Comptroller Ray E. Green mailed to each of the 67 counties a check for $50,000.00. Green said this brought the total received by each county this season to $112,000.00.

1st Easter Sunrise On Big Pocono

TANNERSVILLE — For the first time in history an Easter Sunrise Service was held on "Big Pocono," one of the high points and scenic spots of the Pocono Mountain Range in Eastern Pennsylvania, in commemoration of the resurrection of Jesus Christ.

About 175 persons were present at this service held under the auspices of the Tannersville Methodist Charge, Rev. Gerald Miller, pastor. Members of all churches of the charge, McMichaels, Effort, Reeders, Tannersville and Wesley Chapel, as well as many other persons from all parts of the country, were in attendance.

Rev. Miller read the Bible accounts of the Easter story from the gospels of St. Matthew, St. Mark, St. Luke and St. John, and delivered the glorious Easter message.

Group singing of "Christ Arose" and "Christ the Lord is Risen Today" was accompanied by pianist Mrs. Clyde White. The combined youth choir, from the five churches of the charge, sang "Lead Me to Calvary," "One Day," and "Were You There When They Crucified My Lord," under the direction of Mrs. Norma Jane Canfield Roberts.

Donna Stiff, of the Effort church, sang a solo. An accordion solo, "The Beautiful Garden of Prayer," was presented by Wanda Rolph, of Wesley Chapel.

The inspiring service was closed with all the worshippers joining in singing "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name."

Plans are being made by Rev. Miller and the members of his parish to hold Sunday evening vesper services on "Big Pocono" during the coming Summer months.

Huffman Sees Building On Upswing

A MEETING of the Monroe County Master Builders and Contractors Association was held Tuesday night at Altier's Inn, East Stroudsburg.

President of the association, Harvey W. Huffman said that the turnout of 75 interested builders, contractors, salesmen and bankers is a sure sign that home building in Monroe County is on the upswing this Spring.

John Hunsicker, representative of the Metropolitan-Edison Company's Eastern office, presented a demonstration and informative talk on electric heating for the home and industry. Huffman said 10 new members joined the local association on Tuesday night. A buffet supper was served following the meeting.

SCHOOL TAX PAYER

Teen-Agers Will Chance Being 'Weak' Via Buses

By Eugene Gilbert
President, Gilbert Youth Research Co.

HEARING talk among adults that school buses cost too much and tend to make weaklings out of youngsters, we thought somebody ought to ask the youngsters their own views on this. So we elected ourselves. If our survey can be taken as a popularity contest, the buses win, almost without a contest.

While only a third of the 727 young people we talked to ride the buses, 57 percent felt that service should be provided for them. About 5 percent as-trated on teen-agers living so close to school as to be ineligible for bus service.

"It's like having a party every day before school," explained Marianne Leverenz, 15, of Chicago.

"Public service isn't fast enough," opined Elaine Bens, 17, of St. Louis, while Betsy Joan Lindstrom, 17, of Merchantsville, N. J., chimed in with "Transportation is a necessity and should be provided by educators."

They'd Rather Drive

Most of the dissenters explained that buses cost too much and, as Marie Bogacki, 17, of St. Louis, said, "they raise the taxes." Stout words came also from Nancy Wilkens of Chicago: "Persons in their teens should be able to take care of themselves."

What most of the youngsters seem really to be in love with isn't the public school bus, however, but their own means of motor transportation—whether it be the family car or their own private jalopies.

Of course, the old folks — to hear them tell it — used to walk five miles to school through snow and rain. And you can make sure most of them don't let their offspring forget.

Only a third of the young people we talked to said they had been spared such tales.

Actually, what with school buses, public transportation and private cars, few teenagers seem to get to school these days on their own two feet. Yet 30 percent of them tell us it would be better for their health if they did. Sixteen percent, assert, on the other hand, that it would be worse.

So we asked the young people just what they thought would be a reasonable distance for young people to walk every day, and found that 35 percent think a mile isn't too much for

Says Cigarette Machine Came After Research

PITTSBURGH (AP). — The research director of the Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co. testified yesterday that the firm's first cigarette-smoking machine was built in 1953 following studies made on rats with cancer-producing cigarette agents.

The testimony of Dr. Frederick-Darke was in the form of a de- or sworn statement, that was read to the jury in the U.S. District Court trial of a $1,250,000 damage suit against Liggett & Myers.

Otto E. Pritchard, 61, a Pittsburgh carpenter, is suing the firm on charges his smoking of the firm's Chesterfield cigarettes over a period of years gave him lung cancer. His right lung was removed in 1953.

Herter Blasts ROK Government

WASHINGTON (AP). — Secretary of State Christian A. Herter charged the South Korean government yesterday with adopting "repressive measures un-suited to a free democracy."

He called on President Syngman Rhee's government to take necessary and effective action to protect democratic rights, including freedom of speech, assembly and the press.

Herter, summoning Ambassador You Chan Yang to his office, also called for an end to what he described as "unfair discrimination against political opponents" of the regime.

The State Department made known Herter's strongly worded comments a few moments after the ambassador ended his 30 minute visit.

Elizabeth Gordon Rites Held

FUNERAL services were held yesterday at 2 p.m. for Elizabeth Gordon, 35, 119 North First St., Stroudsburg in the Daniel G. Warner Funeral Home with Rev. Harold C. Eaton.

Interment was in the Stroudsburg Cemetery.

Pallbearers were Ernest Ludwig, Horatio Haas, Jr., Thomas Shiffer, Russell Pansey, Lloyd Doll and Raymond Leap.

The easternmost land of the United States is West Quoddy Head, near Eastport, Me.

high school students.

They agreed the average distance for primary school children is a few blocks, and for grade school and junior high school pupils, about one mile or a little under.

The majority of teenagers — 67 percent — feel that money spent on school buses is worthwhile. Sara Smith, 16, of Griffin, Ga., said, "Bad weather often makes walking impractical." And Susan Moore, 17, of St. Louis, said, "Safe transportation is necessary first."

Some Fear Costs

However, 30 percent indicate they are concerned at short-ages in other aspects of the school program. They felt school bus funds would be better spent on teachers' salaries or new school buildings and repairs. A few suggested purchasing new textbooks would be more beneficial.

Dick Gimlin, 15, of Buffalo, N. Y., was one of those who said money now spent on bus transportation might go for higher salaries "to overcome the teacher shortage," and Priscilla Anne Davis, 17, of Williamston, Ga., said, "Bus drivers are overpaid in comparison with teachers."

Our survey found that opposing views on the subject might be summed up by these two young people:

Marlene Krowitz, 15, of Detroit, said spending money on school buses is worthwhile because "they have to get the kids to school first."

Betsy deRaemes, 13, of Noroton, Conn., said the money could go for other school programs because "transportation can be provided from car pools but schools and teachers can't."

Questions Asked

DO YOU ride a school bus?
Do you think school buses should be provided for your transportation?
Do you enjoy riding the school bus or would you prefer providing your own transportation?
Do you think school buses are provided too freely, not liberally enough or just right?
Do your parents agree with your views on school buses?
Do your parents tell you the hardships they went through to get to school?
Do you think it would be better or worse for a student's health to walk more? What is the maximum distance you think children should walk to school?

FUNERAL services were held yesterday at 2 p.m. in the William R. Thomas Funeral Home for Louis N. Steen, 55, of Sciota, with Rev. Adan Bohner officiating.

Interment was in the Laurelwood Cemetery.

Pallbearers were Richard Doleiden, Thomas Joyce, Maurice Edinger, George Hopping, Earle Luhr and Joseph Pulinelli.

Good Garden Soils Come By Build Up, Materials

By George Abraham

GARDEN SOILS — Good garden soils just don't happen. Usually, they have to be built up by the home gardener and one way to do this is to add liberal amounts of peat, compost or well rotted manure (still some available). Two or three inches of these materials worked into the beds or soil will help bring a poor soil up to an ideal one. Coarse sand, wood ashes, perlite, vermiculite all help to loosen up a clayey soil. These materials do not raise the organic matter content, but increase the pore space. I've got a FREE bulletin which tells how to build up poor soils and it's helped thousands of gardeners. If you'd like a copy of this guide, send me a self-addressed, stamped envelope. NO POSTAL CARDS, NO LOOSE STAMPS, please!

Plastic Bag Trick

This week's reader tip: "I use plastic bags for protecting newly planted nursery stock. Here's how I do it. After setting the roses, bush or fruit tree or perennial plant in the ground, I enclose them with the plastic bags drycleaners use. The bottom is tied and you get a balloon-like effect. Each plant is enclosed in a plastic green house, protecting it from dry air, hot winds and water loss. When the weather gets real hot, I poke a few holes in the top to let out hot air. Otherwise, it's not necessary. Plants are watered well, as usual. When new growth starts, it's a good idea to make a few slits or holes for air circulation. I leave the plastic covering on evergreens longer than on shrubs, fruit trees and roses, since evergreens start new growth more slowly. I never lose any transplants, or newly planted shrubs when they are protected by plastic coverings." Fine tip: Please keep on sending them.

Moles In Lawn

I'm getting letters asking for mole control in lawns. Actually moles do not eat bulbs or plants, since about 95% of their diet consists of grubs and worms. Moles feed on the grubs of May Beetles, June bugs, Japanese Beetles and other soil insects. By getting rid of the insects, moles will leave for a location that has more food for them. Control: Apply chlordane at the rate of 10 lbs. per 1000 sq. ft. in April or May. As soon as the application is made water the lawn thoroughly to carry it down to the grass roots, and to prevent dogs and other animals from getting it. Dieldrin is excellent for applying now. You can trap moles, a slow process, yet dependable. Specially designed traps are made for this purpose. Fresh runways that are traveled by the moles are selected and you must be sure to set the traps according to directions of manufacture. Use of poison baits is seldom successful. Gassing is only partially effective, due to the extensiveness of the runways.

NLRB Elections At 45 Plants

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Collective bargaining elections will be conducted by the National Labor Relations Board next month at 45 northeastern Pennsylvania garment plants.

The elections, during the first week in May, will be held in the Wilkes-Barre, Scranton, Carbonade and Hazleton areas.

Employees will vote on whether they want to be represented by

Question Box

By George Abraham

QUESTION OF THE WEEK: F. R. of Stroudsburg: "I have a small fruit tree planting in my back yard, but it's mighty discouraging. The apples are scabby and the pears are full of worms. Please tell me what's the best spray for the home orchard?"

Don't become discouraged, because every wormy fruit that's home grown is still better than no fruit at all. I'd suggest you use an all purpose spray to control your pests. You can buy the ingredients separately from any garden supply store and mix them yourself, or you can buy them already mixed.

Here's a good all purpose mixture you can use:

MATERIALS

Malathion (25% Wettable Pow.)
Methoxychlor (50% Wet. Pow.)
Captain (50% Wettable Pow.)

AMOUNTS TO USE IN

1 gal.	5 gals.	10 gals.	25 gals.
2 lbs.	2 3/4 cup	1 1/4 cup	1/2 lb.
3 lbs.	1 cup	2 cups	3/4 lb.
2 lbs.	1 cup	2 cups	3/4 lb.

One reason why homeowners have poor luck is improper spraying. Spray the tree once a week, beginning at the very first sign of new growth. Follow this schedule up to the time the fruit has good size. Do not spray insecticides when trees are in full bloom as you'll kill the bees. Spray your trees thoroughly, making sure you cover all parts of the tree, inside and out. Continue spraying until a noticeable amount of dripping falls to the ground. The secret is to keep your leaves and young fruit protected with a coating of pesticide.

One of the most discouraging aspects of home fruit culture is rotted cherries and plums at harvest time. This is brown rot disease, favored by warm, humid weather. If weather is warm and wet, spray trees with Captain 2 tablespoons per gallon of water every two to four days during bloom. Do NOT use an insecticide then!

And incidentally, look your trees over for fruit mummies (dried fruit). These plus those on the ground should be gathered and burned as they are a source of infection.

R. F. of Portland: "The bark on my privet hedge plants was chewed away by field mice or rabbits during winter. Some plants were completely circled. Should these be dug up?"

Cut the plants back to live tissue and they will send up new growth this spring and summer. You will have a temporary gap in the hedge until the new growth catches up with the old growth. It's not necessary to replace the plants as they are still alive below the girdle.

'Quiet' Gunman Grabs $1,500

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A gunman got $1,500 from a teller in a savings and loan association branch office yesterday while two other employees worked nearby unaware of the holdup.

Miss Thelma E. Barth, 38, said the man showed her a pistol and quietly told her to give him money.

She shoved it over the counter, the man picked it up and calmly walked out of the North Philadelphia office of the Philadelphia-Suburban Savings and Loan Assn.

EVERYWHERE BIG SUMMER VALUES AT PENNEY'S!

Just Between Us — —

—By Bobby Westbrook

I don't pretend to dig teenage talk, and I'm inclined to doubt if teen-agers really talk that way anyway, but I thought I had one last night. A senior from Pocono Twp. called to announce a warm record hop.

Warm record? I asked cautiously for the spelling. Yep. Warm. You mean not "cool" and "hot" just medium? I ventured. Oh, no! Seems those are the call letters of the radio station which is furnishing the master of ceremonies.

Well, tepid, Tootsie, tepid: that's the way I felt about working yesterday with the sun so bright and the grass so green. Until, that is, Betty Leitner stopped to tell me about Carol's wedding.

It sounded so gay but, as I've discovered over the years, even the most perfect wedding has its contretemps. Or perhaps I have that backwards; perhaps it's the contretemps which makes the wedding perfect. Certainly memorable. The Leitners will remember the countess, the cream and the court, for many a year, I'll bet.

And I'll remember this as the week the social calendar finally burst its buttons. There are so many activities that there's only room for one day at a time. Everybody from the Gray-Y to the grandparents is having a dance, either separately or together, or in family groups.

Or else rummage sales, suppers, auctions or open houses. Or concerts. Think maybe I'll have a warm record hop of my own: find a sunny corner out of the wind with the social calendar from the Daily Record and contemplate how the rest of you are going to have to hop to keep up with it all.

Spring Hoedown Family Affair Says PTA

The whole family is invited to attend the Spring Hoedown sponsored by the Smithfield Twp. Parent-Teachers Assn. to be held on Friday night at 8 p.m. at Mountain Manor, Marshalls Creek. There will be baby sitters available for the very small children. A fish pond will be featured for the older children.

There will be both round and square dancing to the music of the Seldonaire. Special entertainment will be provided by pupils of Miss Polly's School of the Dance and by the Square Dance Club of the school under the direction of Wendy Mazer. The Square Dance Club will present the Danish Weaver's Dance.

Refreshments will also be available.

An open executive board meeting of the East Stroudsburg Elementary Parent-Teachers Assn. tonight at 7:30 p.m. in Room 12 at the elementary school in North Courtland St. was announced by Irving Sommer, president.

Red, White And Blue Show In Make-Your-Own Clothes For County 4-H Clubs

It will be the red, white, and blue on parade next week, when "Fashions U.S.A.," a collection of brand pattern fashions, is presented to 4-H Club members. This Spring roundup of all the new styles of the season will be presented by a pattern company in Monroe County on April 25 at 7:30 p.m. at the home furnishings and fabrics section of the A. B. Wyckoff store in Stroudsburg.

The 4-H Club girls in the audience will get lots of sewing ideas for their spring wardrobes, for there are ideas aplenty, gathered from all parts of the U.S.A., in this collection.

Red, white, and blue dominate the color scheme, for these colors are big favorites with most girls. The three are combined in a classic teen outfit—a blue and white striped coat, perfectly classical in its lines, that is shown over a white shirt and a red proportioned skirt. The three colors turn up again in separates, all trimmed with braid and rickrack in the flag colors.

Trims are quite important in this spring-minded collection—lace trim for little date dresses, tailored braid on a yellow wool suit, and, of course, the 4-H emblem that is used to trim the 4-H shirt dress the girls sew themselves.

Another big color in the collection is pink; there is a whole section of the group devoted to the star-spangled pinks. In it,

Antique Auto, Art Auction For Cancer

A special auction for the benefit of the Cancer Drive will be held at the Penn-Stroud Hotel April 22 at 9 p.m. It was announced yesterday.

The auctioneer for the event, to be held outside on the hotel porch, will be Wayne Posten. The main event of the auction will be the bidding on an antique classic 1929 Parkard Town Car, in perfect running condition, courtesy of Tucker Chevrolet Co.

The car is described as having a "magnificent" black lacquer surface, "excellent" tires, motor "purs like a kitten," and has 9,230 miles on the speedometer.

Inside there is a cigar lighter, cardcase carrier, vanity mirror, velvet footrest and efficient heater.

The car will be on display in front of Wyckoff's April 21 and 22.

Other items to be auctioned off will be antiques, pottery donated by Design Techniques, art objects and paintings donated by artist members of the Pocono Art Center.

Leitner Home Setting For Wedding Of Their Daughter

A home ceremony marked the marriage of Miss Carol Leitner, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. M. J. Leitner, of 120 South Green St., East Stroudsburg, to Jacques Duvoisin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Duvoisin, of Gladstone, N. J.

It was a family affair with about 35 members of the families of the bride and the bridegroom gathered at the Leitner home.

The ceremony was performed by the Hon. Fred W. Davis, president judge of the Pike-Monroe Judicial Court.

The bride wore a gown of white lace, forming the bodice with its scoop neckline, and Italian silk forming the bell-shaped skirt. Her nosegay of white carnations and red roses had been designed by her mother.

She was attended by her sister, Mrs. Sherwood Samer, who wore a beige and blue print dress in pure silk with a bouffant skirt.

The best man was Claude Martinot of Gladstone, N. J. Receiving the guests, Mrs. Leitner wore a beige chiffon dress. The bridegroom's mother wore a navy blue ensemble.

Following the ceremony, a buffet dinner was served. The table centerpiece was of white hyacinths, white tulips and hyacinths.

After a brief trip to Connecticut, Mr. and Mrs. Duvoisin are now back at school at Pratt Institute of Technology in New York. The address of their apartment is 187 Clinton Ave., Brooklyn, N.Y.

Mr. Duvoisin is a graduate of Drew University, Madison, N.J., and a second-year student in Architecture at Pratt Institute. His bride, a graduate of East Stroudsburg High School, had two years of liberal arts at Drew University before transferring to Pratt Institute where she is a second-year student in interior decorating.

They will spend the summer in Gladstone, N.J.

Diets Bad On Nation's Teenagers

DIET delinquency among teenagers may be an even greater national problem than juvenile delinquency many health authorities feel.

Studies made in nearly every state show inadequate diets among an alarming percentage of teenage boys and girls in homes at all income levels.

One of the most detailed studies was conducted over a 12-year period from 1947 through 1959 embracing statistics compiled by all of the California state agricultural experimental stations.

Causes, the studies show, include little or no breakfast, fat-free diets, and inadequate family meal planning. Many authorities agree that a leading reason for poor teenage nutrition is the failure of families to have adequate stocks of food—especially fresh food—on hand.

Often the blame here falls on the rounded shoulders of and aging refrigerator with too little space for the family's needs, and a freezing compartment too small to hold a supply of frozen citrus juices rich in vitamin C.

In these cases, the solution is a modern electric refrigerator-freezer. Its wide shelves and compartments in both refrigerator and freezer sections keep a constant supply of fresh and frozen foods ready at all times to provide healthful nourishment as well as appetizing meals.

Even shows how to install a self starter and road lights.

While we don't recommend this car for the road travel, it does provide transportation that's really easy to operate.

The tiller steering is undoubtedly the simplest to use, while the driving mechanism is controlled by one lever. Push it forward and you go forward, pull it back to reverse. Neutral is in between.

Braking this car is also controlled by the same lever. A floor throttle and light switch are the only other controls.

A part or full time business can be developed building and selling these cars to resort hotels, for golf course rentals, the aged or handicapped. Shopping center and factories can use one or more for inter-plant travel. Rural mail and newspaper deliveries find these cars real time and labor savers.

Build Own Golf Buggy At Home

WE DON'T THINK our 1959 build-it-yourself golf buggy will cause Detroit any great worry, but we do know it has created considerable interest and real satisfaction among its first users.

Anyone who wants low cost transportation around a golf course, shopping center, farm, factory or safe transportation for aged or handicapped persons, will find this 4 H. P. build-it-yourself car a practical and economical answer.

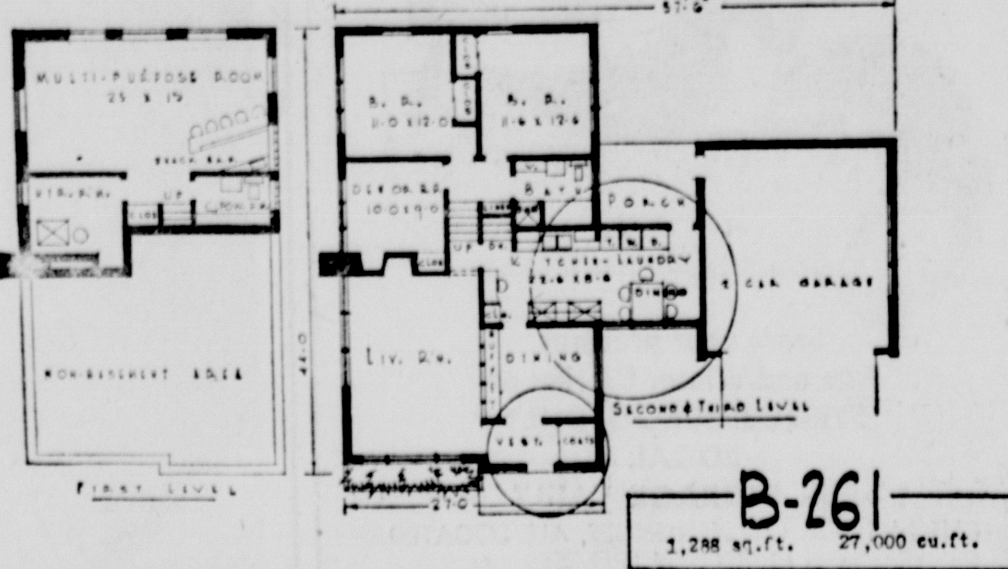

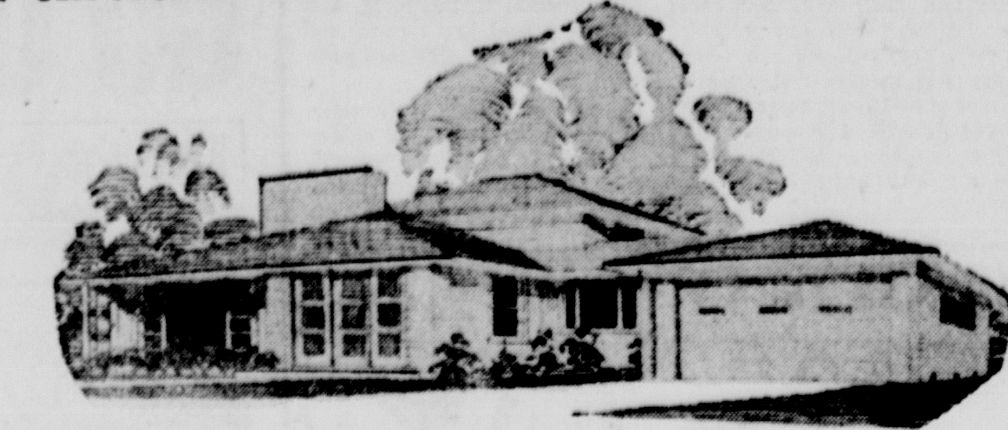

Since every step of assembly is outlined in easy-to-follow procedure, anyone who knows the difference between a hammer and a wrench can easily assemble the chassis, wheels, pulley and belt drive from a complete kit of parts.

The pattern offered below not only illustrates each part and explains step-by-step, where and when each part is assembled, but also provides full size templates for cutting the body from 3/4" plywood.

Lawn mower wheels and engine are specified. The pattern

Parade of Homes

Spacious Residence

Tri-Level Home Victor In Popular Living Plan

A TRIUMPH in tri-level living, this popular design arranges the rooms on three distinct levels according to function. The open spaciousness and efficient room arrangement here makes for happy, healthy and active living. Note that every line in this plan is laid out to take full advantage of every inch of space.

The front section, or living area, is located on the first floor. There is a large guest closet in the vestibule, the latter with direct access to either living or dining room.

Spaciousness is keynoted in the living room and more formal dining room. A built-in buffet with open shelving separates these two rooms. Focal points of the living room is the two beautiful picture windows for plenty of daylighting and the cozy fireplace for those cold winter nights that the whole family will enjoy.

The breezeway in this home should command special attention. Adjoining the kitchen, it permits the housewife to perform the laundry service without the necessity of traveling up and down basement stairs.

A laundry room on the first floor level will soon be a must in popular design of two-story houses.

The step-saving straight in-line kitchen is used in this home with ample cabinet and counter space. The hall at the end of the kitchen has utilized this area with a planning desk and broom closet.

Since habits regarding the use of dining rooms are changing, the eating space in the kitchen is becoming an important subject. The dining nook with a large window will capture the exterior beauty and provide a cheerful well lighted atmosphere.

The basement area is reached by descending only six steps to the activities room. Since the excavated area is only three feet six inches below grade, the use of full size windows on all sides is possible for the basement area.

One section of this room is used for the heating plant, while another section provides for a powder room, and one corner of the main room is utilized for a snack and refreshment bar.

It's only six steps up to the sleeping area from the first floor level. Here we find generous sized bedrooms, with large sliding door closets and a group of high placed windows ideal for light, good ventilation and excellent furniture arrangements.

The den with natural fireplace and closet can become a third bedroom if the need for one should arise. Also located on the upper level is the bath, convenient not only to the sleeping area, but also to stairs leading down to lower level. There is a good sized linen closet nearby.

This plan conforms to general FHA, VA and Building Code requirements. Electrical layout is indicated on the blueprints. Due to the variation in material and labor costs, the estimated construction cost is not given.

However, this plan contains 1,288 sq. ft. and 27,000 cu. ft. Your builder or material supplier can give you the average cost per square or cubic foot in your area.

Complete Building plans, including Detail Sheet, Material List and Specification Guide for Design No. B-261 may be purchased for $9.75 for first set; two for $18.25; three for $26.25; or four for $33.75, identical sets. Chef Says Cook Must Keep Cool

THE FIRST rule of a gourmet cook is to keep a cool head—and cool ingredients, according to globe-trotting gourmet James A. Beard.

Beard, who "cooks in every language," is the author of "The James Beard Cook Book," "Paris Cuisine" and nine other tomes on the culinary art.

The modern electric refrigerator-freezer has done a lot to streamline the ancient art of cookery, Beard says.

To keep a cool head while following a complex recipe, the experienced chef prepares many of his ingredients well ahead of time. He cools or freezes them until the "hectic last minute," when it seems as though everything has to be blended in at the same time.

Salads Won't Wilt
Some basic ingredients chefs "keep on ice" for a large variety of recipes include meat and fish stock, standard sauces such as bechamel, veloute, hollandaise, tomato purees, and fine herbs, chopped and ready to be added at the last moment.

If the meal is to have many courses, it's usually necessary to keep some of them—such as the dessert, as well as champagne or white wine—in the refrigerator till needed. For a crisp salad, the chef is particularly grateful for a special vegetable compartment that provides a moist cold, preventing greens and other foods from drying out.

Prefers Fresh Foods
Good cooks prefer fresh or frozen meats, vegetables, fruits, and fish to those that are canned or otherwise artificially preserved. The gourmet's art is to combine natural flavors or to improve them with seasonings.

Beard also likes to keep a large supply and a wide range of foods on hand because a gourmet is a creature of whim. If he suddenly craves beef stroganoff or sweet-and-sour carp, he wants to be able to pick out the ingredients he needs from his well-stocked spice shelf and refrigerator-freezer.

Refrigerator Can Help With Meals

HOW long has it been since you rode in a rumble seat, or danced the Big Apple, or wore rayon stockings?

Your refrigerator may be almost as out of date as rayon stockings if it is more than five years old. New electric refrigerator-freezers have so many modern time- and labor-saving features that most older refrigerators are outmoded even if they seem to be operating satisfactorily.

Here's how to tell if your refrigerator is out of date. Does it: Keep fresh foods crisp and fresh for a week or more?

Hold many pounds of frozen foods in a zero zone for months?

Save shopping time because of its large capacity?

Have a special compartment for cheese and another that keeps butter at spreading temperature?

Holds up to a bushel of fresh vegetables in specially cooled and humidified crispers?

Remain completely free of frost so you never have that messy defrosting job even in the freezer section?

Automatically keep a basket full of ice cubes?

Rate Reduction
NEW YORK (AP)—Reduction of rates for transportation of some industrial products is planned by the New York Central Railroad in a move to meet competition from the St. Lawrence Seaway.

In 1958, horse racing produced $222,049,651 in revenue for all the states in the U.S.

From One Mother To Another

Dear Abby: From time is just around the corner and you could do so many girls a favor if you would print my suggestion.

Went the mothers of sons urge them to ask a girl to the prom? So many hearted girls sit at home on prom night because the boys have stalled around and put off asking them until it is too late, so they just skip it. All girls can't be best-lookers and best dancers and most popular. But they all have hearts.

Believe me, no matter how plain a girl is, she would be glamorous that night and the boy would be glad he asked her. And the girl would live that night over and over again in her memories.

MOTHER OF TWO EACH.

Dear Mother: Thank you for your beautiful letter. I am starting on my own son tonight.

Dear Abby: We got into an argument in our English class. Our teacher said that if a plane crashed in the desert and no living being heard it, it didn't make a sound.

Two or three of us argued about it. I believe that if a stick of dynamite goes off, or if there is an explosion of any kind, whether anybody hears it or not, it still makes a sound. Am I right or is my teacher right?

DICK.

Dear Dick: A "sound" is a physical change in the atmosphere, induced in many ways, and conforms to certain known laws of physics. It CAN be recorded and proved, whether or not anyone is around to hear it.

Dear Abby: I think my sister-in-law is trying to set a world's record. She is 27 years old and has ten children! Believe it or not, she hasn't been out of a maternity dress since she married my brother ten years ago. He is a nice guy, but he doesn't have a mind of his own.

The big problem is this: Whenever anyone in the family tries to tell her in a nice way that she has enough children, she gets mad and tells them to mind their own business.

They farm and don't need financial help, but the size of their family is the talk of the county. They act like it's something to be proud of. I think they are a disgrace. I'd like your opinion.

SISTER-IN-LAW.

Dear Sister-In-Law: The size of the family is the business of the Mamma and Papa. If they are able to feed, clothe and educate all the children they have invited into the world, it's nobody's business but theirs. Now, don't you have a problem of your own.

Confidential to "Disgusted With Dad": Your father means well—but he is making a serious mistake by asking his friends in high places to recommend you for a college that is probably too difficult for you. If you can't get in on your own merits, how long does he think you will stay there?

"What's your problem?" Write to Abby in care of this paper. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

DeGaulle Urges Missile Ban

OTTAWA (AP)—French President Charles de Gaulle said yesterday for a summit agreement banning missiles and other vehicles capable of carrying nuclear weapons.

He described such a course as a beginning on nuclear disarmament. Banning of missiles, he said is one of the objectives he would like to see achieved at the summit conference opening in Paris May 16.

In a formal speech, the touring French leader said nothing about prohibition of nuclear weapons themselves but at a news conference later he repeated France's position that she would be willing to ban such weapons if the other nuclear powers—the United States, Soviet Union and Britain—would cease production and destroy their nuclear stockpiles. Until then, he said, France would regretfully feel bound to continue to produce nuclear weapons.

Low Bidder For Wayne Job

HARRISBURG (AP)—The State Forests and Waters Department Wednesday said Gillen Construction Co., Carbondale, was the unofficial low bidder on a Wayne County flood control project with a bid of $67,902.

The Lollipop Creek project calls for the construction of a reinforced concrete channel some 750 feet long, a reinforced concrete intake structure and debris basin, and a small stilling basin.

The project is located upstream from U.S. 6 adjacent to the White Mills handle factory.

Hawks Fire Ed Macauley Hire Seymour

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Paul Seymour was named coach of the St. Louis Hawks pro basketball team Wednesday night, succeeding Easy Ed Macauley.

Macauley, who won two regular season Western Division titles in two years as coach of the National Basketball Assn. team, became general manager. He remains a vice president.

Confirms Story

The hiring of Seymour and the appointment of Macauley to a front office job confirms an Associated Press story of March 25.

Seymour resigned last month after four years as coach of the Syracuse Nationals.

He becomes owner Ben Kerner's 14th coach in 13 seasons.

Seymour signed a three-year contract said to call for about $20,000 a year.

The signing of Seymour was Macauley's first official duty as Hawks' general manager. Both Seymour and Macauley are 32.

Bangor Drops 7-2 Decision To Nazareth

TOM ALTEMOSE and Frank Roth allowed only three hits, as Nazareth dumped Bangor 7-2 at Bangor Wednesday.

It was the fourth loss in as many starts for the Slatters and the second straight to Nazareth. The game opened the Lehigh-Northampton League.

LaBar Loses

Duane LaBar, the losing pitcher, got the only Bangor extra base hit, a double.

Nazareth scored two runs in the third, four in the fifth and a singleton in the sixth. The Slatters, held scoreless for five innings, managed lone tallies in the sixth and seventh innings.

Sam Burley, belted a three-run homer for the winners.

Bangor's next game is Saturday at home against Wilson Boro.

The Warriors, making a surprisingly strong showing in their opening meet, swept two events, the mile run and low hurdles.

Montclair and East Stroudsburg each won seven events in the shortened meet. No relays were run.

Lou Murdock and Russ Hopewell, posted double wins for the Warriors.

Murdock Wins Hurdles
Murdock captured both hurdle events, winning the 220-yard lows in 25.6 seconds and adding the 120-yard high in 16.7.

Hopewell, with only one-day of jumping practice, tied for first in the high jump with Montclair's Red Gezeke at five feet, 10-inches. John Gudikunst and Bill Singley, both of East Stroudsburg, tied for third.

Hopewell, whose best previous effort in the broad jump was 20-feet, seven-inches, sailed 22-feet, five-inches to take his second first. Montclair's Bill Hampton, who was in third place going into the final jump, out-leaped Warrior Joe Simms, by scant inches for second place.

Richardson Wins
Jim Richardson, who didn't run in pre-season time trials, won the mile in 4:58.1, edging teammate Ray Kressler by a stride. Stan Wood was third, giving East Stroudsburg a three-place sweep.

Kressler, who dogs pace setters like fly paper, out-sprinted Joe Kulick in the last 100 yards to win the two-mile run in 10:57.8.

Ted Arnhetter took an early lead in the eight-lap event and was 30-yards in front through the first six laps. But Kulick and Kressler slowly cut the distance and at the gun-lap had taken the lead from Arnhetter.

Final Spurt

Kulick led by three yards going into the last lap, but Kressler pulled even with about 100 yards left and the pair sprinted side by side for 70 yards. But Kressler, one of the smallest men on the Warrior squad, pulled ahead and won by five yards.

Russ Rogers, who only came out for the team yesterday and was declared eligible four hours before the meet, won the discus event with a toss of 109-feet.

Schoonover Raises Average To .556

STROUD Union High School blew a 10-2 lead Wednesday and Cataqua scored nine runs in the closing four innings to drop the Mountaineers 11-10 at Catty.

The eight-frame extra inning affair opened the Lehigh Valley League.

Bill Schoonover, who went into the game batting .250, belted a home run, double and two singles in four trips and raised his average to .556. He also batted in two runs, giving him five RBIs in two games.

John Carson, who had only given up two runs in five previous innings against Pen Argyl, was touched for 11 hits and seven runs, four of them earned.

Scoreless First
After a scoreless first, Schoonover led the second with a round tripper. George Kresge walked, one of the 10 free passes issued by Catty, stole second and went to third on a wild pitch.

Leo Frailey followed with another walk, to put runners on first and third.

First baseman Bill Queenan went down swinging and Gary Rinker looked at a third strike.

Carson popped a Charvala pitch into the air behind second that fell for a single, when Charles Burke, Harold Keys and John Becker went through the "I've got it, no you take it" routine.

Two Score
Kresge scored from third and Frailey, running with two out, came around to score. Bill Possinger grounded out to end the inning.

Catty cut the lead to 3-2.

Workheiser Loses
Bob Workheiser, the loser, who did not give up a hit or run in two innings against the Knights, worked the final three and two-thirds innings. He gave up six hits and four runs.

The locals had a field day on the base paths, stealing seven bases, while catcher Gary Rinker didn't allow Catty a theft.

Carson, who went into the game with one hit in his only plate appearance kept a perfect 1.000 average, collected two singles in two at-bats.

The Mountaineers scored all of their runs in the first five innings, getting to starter Joe Charvala for eight and picking up two against Bill Fritz, who took over in the fourth.

Queenan walked and went to second on a passed ball. Rinker struck out and Carson was walked. He was forced at second by Carl Kohl's grounder to Tom Fritzingler. Queenan moved to third.

Possinger was safe at first on a fielder's choice. He stole second and Martin walked to load the bases.

Kohl Triples
Kohl tripled to bring in three runs and scored on a wild pitch. Schoonover singled, Kresge walked, and Frailey, the ninth batter in the inning fanned to end the frame.

Stroud Union scored a pair in the fifth but Catty came up with three in the bottom of the seventh to send the game into extra innings.

Fritz blanked the losers in the eighth.

Charvala opened the bottom of the eighth with a one-bounce, ground rule double over the right field wall.

Ray Laubach, smacked his third hit of the day, a single to center. Charvala stopped at third.

Fritz ended the afternoon by drilling a single to left, scoring Charvala.

BOZEMAN, Mont. (AP) — Sturdy Gene Fuller and Joey Giardello battled 15 bitter rounds to a draw Wednesday night as Fuller retained the National Boxing Assn. version of the world middleweight title.

Pocono Lake Drops Polk 9-7 In 8th

POLK HIGH SCHOOL pitchers walked in two runs in the top of the eighth, to give visiting Pocono Lake a 9-7 extra-inning win Wednesday.

The game, which opened the Monroe County Scholastic League, was originally booked for April 26 but moved up to fit the schedules of the two schools.

Pocono Lake opened with three runs in the top of the first but Polk collected six hits, including a triple and home run in the first, to score four times and take the lead.

Borger Belts

Larry Borger, the leadoff man for Polk, belted a four-bagger on the first offering from Gerald Keiper. Lloyd Weiland also drove in a run with a triple.

Tobyhanna got another trio of runs in the second, on a walk and three back-to-back hits after two were out.

Polk tied the game in the third on a double by Dick Meitzler that sent Bill Borger home and Meitzler scored on a sacrifice fly.

Polk took a 7-6 lead in the fifth but the Lakers, defending champs of the Monroe loop, knuckled the score in the sixth. Neither club managed a run in the seventh.

Walks Score Two

In the eighth, Bill Borger walked in John Murphy to send the Lakers in front, 8-7, and Weiland took over the mound duties. Weiland walked in W. Kostanzo before he could snuff out the rally.

John Keiper, the winning pitcher, checked the home team in the bottom of the eighth.

Borger, who was charged with the loss, allowed all of the Lakers 13 hits but was charged with only six earned runs. He fanned 11.

BARBECUED CROW
If a day afield with the old stuffed owl is especially productive why not have the gang over on a Saturday evening for barbecued breast of crow? You'll not lack for company on future crow hunts! Allow two birds per person and fill out the bill of fare with hot baked beans, lettuce salad, potato chips and plenty of dill pickles!

Since crows at this season are quite gamey, they should be par-boiled 30 minutes in water to which one tablespoon soda has been added per quart. Or you can soak them three to four hours in vinegar-salt water, one part vinegar to three parts water with one teaspoon salt per quart solution.

Place breasts on broiler rack three inches below flame and with regulator set on moderate (350 degrees) broil 30 minutes. Baste every five minutes with barbecue sauce.

For barbecue sauce melt one-third pound butter in sauce pan, then add one-fourth cup catsup, one tablespoon sugar, one tablespoon lemon juice, one tablespoon Worcestershire sauce, one tablespoon prepared mustard, one teaspoon salt, one-half teaspoon pepper, one-fourth teaspoon red pepper. Let simmer five minutes before using.

STARLING BREASTS ON PEANUT DRESSING
There is no limit on starlings and so you'll not have to restrain yourself when gunning for these fliers. The problem is to find a place where you can hunt them. They hang pretty much to towns and cities where the use of firearms is generally taboo. Farms which are surrounded by large numbers of big maples or other trees are occasional havens for the birds, however. Leave your phone number at such places. The farmers will be most happy to call you when a flight comes around!

Use only the breasts of the birds, which should be soaked for an hour or two in salt water. Use one tablespoon salt per quart water.

Make a peanut dressing by mixing one cup finely chopped peanuts with three cups bread crumbs, one tablespoon chopped parsley, one tablespoon chopped onion, one teaspoon salt, one-quarter teaspoon pepper, one beaten egg, four tablespoons melted butter, one-quarter cup water and one-quarter cup port wine. Place in small roaster, lay starling breasts on top, cover and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) for one hour. Brush meat occasionally with melted butter.

Your Horoscope Today

For Thursday, April 21, 1960
March 21 to April 20 (Aries): With Mars, Saturn and the Moon well aspected today it is a strong, personally benefic period. Matters of defense and military preparedness, also difficult and extensive undertakings are honored.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus): There are favorable aspects (as indicated in Aries). They are more for strenuous activities, laborious work, requiring endurance and stamina. Delicate matters ask more patience, care.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini): Keen, restraining hand on "wild" schemes, unpremeditated decisions and needless changes because of restlessness. Be usefully occupied, think well before important management of affairs.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer): Favorably aspected Moon vibrations. Take a deep breath and get after your schedule as quickly and reasonably as you can. Much good will be accomplished this stirring day. Have fun, too.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo): Favorably aspected Sun. A year between a year yesterday and an oncoming benefic tomorrow. The kind of day to finish incomplete projects, also to start new projects or subjects. Watch decisions.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo): Some tension indicated. It becomes your conscientious people to refuse to be irritated or worried. Do your best with day's obligations, then go on to fresh plans for the tomorrows.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra): It may take more than just usual plans and methods to reap gains you would like now. And it is you who can hold your breath this day much to your choosing. Clever planning, astuteness urged.

October 24 to November 23 (Scorpio): Better than average opportunity to better chances of achievement, to acquire fresh incentive and privilege to insure happiness and security that you, all desire and need.

November 24 to December 21 (Sagittarius): Competition and added responsibilities all about us now. You can meet and resolve many of them. Choose amiable helpmates (of good character) and confide in family if troubled.

December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn): Especially propitious day with your Saturn, the Moon and Neptune well aspected. Don't overwork self with tasks but try to attend to the urgent and essential duties first. Good character, good character, good character.

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius): Give full attention to necessary matters and those "small" but often irritating details. Good will come of this attention. Handing heavy machinery, tools, engineering, among favored.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces): An interesting, inspiring day with your Saturn, the Moon and Neptune well aspected. Don't overwork self with tasks but try to attend to the urgent and essential duties first. Good character, good character, good character.

March 21 to April 20 (Aries): With Mars, Saturn and the Moon well aspected today it is a strong, personally benefic period. Matters of defense and military preparedness, also difficult and extensive undertakings are honored.

Climax Of Pari-Mutuel Track Activity April 26

By The Associated Press
MORE than a decade ago, a few lawmakers and individuals set in motion efforts to legalize some sort of racing with parimutuel betting in the state of Pennsylvania.

Long, hard debate and much political maneuvering followed. Then, in a surprise move by the 1959 state legislature, a law was established setting up a State harness racing commission.

It passed with solid majorities in both the house and the senate after an earlier proposal for flat racing of thoroughbreds was written off.

The climax of this activity comes April 26th in the primary election. Pennsylvanians in 14 counties will vote for the first time in the commonwealth's history on the legalization of gambling in any form.

They will vote yes or no on whether they favor the location of a harness racing plant with parimutuel betting in their respective counties.

Counties Involved
The counties involved in the unprecedented vote are Allegheny, Philadelphia, Delaware, Chester, Bucks, Berks, Lehigh, Luzerne, Monroe, Northumberland, Fayette, Westmoreland, Erie and Crawford.

Throughout all these areas, the controversial question has raised quite a furor and seems to be spicing an otherwise lack-luster primary election picture.

On one side, Gov. David L. Lawrence and Mayor Joseph M. Barr of Pittsburgh lead a host of well-known names favoring the bill.

"I expect to vote yes on the bill personally," says Lawrence. "I have been a racing fan for many years as everybody knows. I'm strictly a two-dollar bettor."

Lawrence's administration has not taken an official stand on the bill.

Mayor Barr contends the bill is a moral issue rather than a political one and has indicated he too will vote in favor of the measure.

Advocators of the bill claim that, among other things, that legalized parimutuel betting would produce added revenue for the state through taxes.

Meanwhile, bombarding the proposal as bad business are such organizations as the Pennsylvania Council of Churches and the State Parent-Teachers Assn. The council represents 18 Protestant denominations with congregations totaling three million persons.

The Roman Catholic and Jewish faiths are not taking an organized stand on the issue, but several church leaders are waging a personal opposition against it.

Included in this group are Bishop John J. Wright of the Pittsburgh Roman Catholic Diocese, Bishop Austin Padias of the Pittsburgh Episcopal Diocese, Bishop Nicholas T. Elko of the Pittsburgh Byzantine (Greek) Rite Diocese of the Roman Catholic Church, and Bishop Lloyd C. Wicke of the Pittsburgh Methodist Diocese.

Those opposing the measure contend that the bill essentially is aimed at eventually legalizing all forms of gambling in the state.

The Daily Investor

Percentage Of Ownership

By William A. Doyle
Q. When you wrote about stock options granted to employees of a company, you stated that every time a share of stock is issued as a result of the exercise of an option the equity (percentage of ownership) of all the other stockholders is decreased.

I thought this happened when a stock dividend is declared—not when a stock option is exercised. Can you clarify this point?

A. We'll try it by explaining the effect of a stock dividend first. If you own 100 shares of stock in a company let's say that those shares represent one percent of the outstanding stock of the company. If a two percent stock dividend is paid, you will own 102 shares.

Those 102 shares will still represent one percent of the outstanding stock of the company. The company will have two percent more shares outstanding, because all the other stockholders also received the stock dividend.

The equity (percentage of ownership in the company) represented by each share will be reduced. But your total percentage of ownership will remain the same because you own more shares.

On the other hand, if more shares are issued and you don't receive a percentage of those shares in line with your percentage of ownership in the company your equity is reduced.

You then own the same number of shares you did before the additional shares were issued. But there are more shares outstanding. This applies whether the additional shares are issued as a result of stock options or any other reason.

The issuing of additional shares through stock options, sale to the public and such usually brings in additional money to the company. The actual value of the shares may not be greatly changed.

Although this point confuses many people, the value of each share of stock is an entirely different subject than the percentage of ownership represented by the number of shares owned by each stockholder.

Q. Is it advisable to buy stocks through a brokerage firm that is not a member of the New York Stock Exchange?

A. The arguments on this would fill a book—much less this column. Many, many fine brokerage firms do not hold memberships on the New York Stock Exchange or any other stock exchange.

If a broker gives you the kind of service you want and handles your buy and sell orders at the best possible price for you, he's suited for you—whether or not his firm belongs to any stock exchange. We're assuming, of course, that you deal with a reputable firm. It is often smart (perhaps even necessary) to be very careful when dealing with non-member firms.

Many stocks have "dual listings"—meaning that they are traded on more than one stock exchange. Sometimes it's possible to have a transaction executed at a better price on one exchange than on another.

And there is some trading of listed securities in the over-the-counter market. The volume is higher than most people realize. Most of it is done by professional investors and institutional investors and banks. Don't forget that a great number of investors buy and sell their stocks through their banks and never see a brokerage office.
